Introduction

The key stage 1 test administration guidance¹ provides guidance for schools administering standard versions of the 2017 key stage 1 (KS1) national curriculum tests.

This guidance will help you prepare for administering KS1 tests to pupils with a hearing impairment. You should follow it to ensure that pupils with a hearing impairment can access the tests properly and that they are not at a disadvantage.

The information in this guide builds on section 6 of the 2017 KS1 assessment and reporting arrangements² (ARA).

You should use this guidance together with the:

- 2017 KS1 test administration guidance
- printed test administration instructions provided with the standard test materials

The printed instructions include information about what you should do before, during and after each test. Please follow them carefully in order to avoid potential allegations of maladministration. Headteachers are responsible for the test administration arrangements within their school. Failing to adhere to the statutory requirements detailed within this guide could lead to a maladministration investigation³.

The printed instructions provided with the test materials are not published on GOV.UK because they contain information that must stay confidential until the test period is over. Schools should use practice materials⁴ to help prepare.

Schools may choose to administer the optional 2017 English grammar, punctuation and spelling test and use the result to inform teacher assessment of English writing, but there is no requirement to do so.

Section 1: Planning for the tests

1.1 Access arrangements

Teachers should decide whether any access arrangements are appropriate, taking into account the assessment needs of each pupil and the support given as part of normal classroom practice. You should refer to the KS1 access arrangements guidance⁵ for further information. Please note the following specific guidance for pupils with a hearing impairment.

Early opening

Schools do not need to make applications for early opening as the KS1 tests can be administered throughout May 2017. If schools need to make modifications to papers to meet a pupil's needs, or if signers need access to the papers to prepare for the administration of the tests, they must not open test materials early.

You should consider either administering the tests to particular pupils that need the specific access arrangements after the initial administration of the tests, using the opened test materials to make the necessary arrangements, or using downloadable versions which will be available on NCA tools⁶ from Tuesday 2 May.

Use of communicators and sign language

Communicators and sign language interpreters may be used to support pupils who use British sign language or other sign-supported communication in the tests if this is normal classroom practice. Subject-specific guidance on the use of communicators and sign language is given in section 2.

Section 2: Administering the tests

2.1 Administering the English tests

English reading

You may only use and give explanations to convey the general instructions. This includes information on the front cover of the test papers and any directions that are not part of the actual questions.

English grammar, punctuation and spelling (optional)

If you choose to administer this test you should only use sign language, and give an explanation:

- to convey the general instructions
- where test administrators are instructed to read the prompts to the pupil
- to read and/or sign back to the pupil any part of his or her response

Notes for readers in the KS1 and KS2 English grammar, punctuation and spelling tests⁷ gives examples of how to read particular types of question in Paper 2: questions.

Paper 1: Spelling

A communicator or sign language interpreter may be used during Paper 1: spelling. However, if the spelling paper is presented through sign language, finger spelling mustn't be used.

Compensatory marks

Some pupils with a hearing impairment will not be able to access the spelling paper of the optional English grammar, punctuation and spelling test. Raw scores from both English grammar, punctuation and spelling papers are needed to reach an overall scaled score.

A compensatory mark for the spelling test will be available to schools by request from the national curriculum assessments helpline on 0300 303 3013 at the beginning of June. Schools should add this compensatory mark to the raw score from the English grammar, punctuation and spelling Paper 2: questions before converting the overall raw score to a scaled score.

2.2 Administering the mathematics test

Printed instructions accompany the standard test materials for Papers 1 and 2. These describe the adaptations you can make, and suggested rephrasing of words and sentences which may be signed. The instructions highlight any questions where you may need to give the pupil further clarification or exemplification.

Paper 2: reasoning

Some pupils with a hearing impairment may need extra visual support to access the first 5 aural questions of mathematics Paper 2: reasoning. These pupils can be given the optional script, which is included with the printed test administration instructions provided with the standard test, in addition to their test booklet.

Pupils should use the script alongside their test booklet when listening to the aural questions read by the teacher. Pupils using the optional pupil aural script may need support so they can manage the script and test paper while listening to the test administrator.

You should only use the optional script where you are confident that its use will not confuse pupils.

Section 3: After the tests

3.1 Marking

Refer to the key stage 1 test administration guidance⁸ for general information about marking the tests.

You should use the standard mark schemes for pupils with a hearing impairment. Mark schemes will be published in the 'Test materials' section of NCA tools⁹ from Tuesday 2 May.

There are no amendments to mark schemes for pupils with a hearing impairment.
